Chinese Will Battle With 25th Infantry Sunday

Wrecking Crew and Fast Local Team Will Play Second Game of Double Header—Honolulu's World Series Will Be Played at Athletic Park—Chinese Are Only Team to Defeat 25th Infantry Squad Recently—Pacific Teams Will Play First

For the first time in many moons the baseball fans of the city will have an opportunity of witnessing a game between the Chinese and 25th Infantry. These two teams have battled on many occasions and the majority of the contests have gone in favor of the Wrecking Crew. The Chinese squad is anxious to take a crack at the boys from Schofield and will meet them in the second game of the double-header on Sunday.

The Chinese team has a number of the best hitters in the islands, and Ah Lee, who led the league for a number of months, will take his place on the team. Lang Akana and En Sue will be seen in the outfield, and with Cheong back on first the team looks like a fast aggregation.

With Crafton out of the game, the Chinese outfield should be faster than the Wrecking Crew fly chasers, and the infield should shape up as well, if not better. In case the inner works is composed of Cheong, Ah Lee, Kan Yen and Kai Luke, the Chinese players should have a slight advantage, but the 25th Infantry is certain to make this up in the pitching.

Rogan is anxious to play the infield and he may not start against the Chinese players on Sunday, and if some other pitcher takes the billock, then the game should prove to be a battle throughout. The 25th Infantry team always plays ball, while the Chinese aggregation do not quit until the last man is out.

The fans will remember the game in which the Chinese downed the 25th by a score of 6 to 1, and they are confident that they will have an excellent chance this time. Hoon Ki or Luck Yee will go on the mound for the home players, while the pitching selection of Manager Cheney has not been named.

The opening game will be played between two of the Pacific League teams, perhaps the Hawaiians, Chinese, Braves or St. Louis clubs. This will be settled at a meeting this evening. Tan Lo, manager of the Chinese of the Pacific League, wants to get another chance at the Braves, who won out in a last inning rally last Sunday.

Stayton and Chillingworth will umpire the games and the prices of admission will remain the same. Last Sunday's games proved to be good attractions and the double-header this week will be certain to draw out a good crowd of fans.

READ THIS, BASEBALL FANS!

The Star-Bulletin will have something new for Honolulu's thousands of baseball fans during the world's series. This paper will give more detailed news of the great games between Boston Americans and Brooklyn Nationals than has ever before been furnished during a world's series. Details will be announced tomorrow. The public is cordially invited to watch the Star-Bulletin returns beginning Saturday morning. It will be almost like seeing the game played.

BERT HUSHAW TO MANAGE TEAM OF ALL-STARS HERE

If the final contract is signed to bring a team here in November from the Pacific coast, Honolulu will have a new team to send against the visitors. Bert Hushaw, one of the directors of the Pacific League, has agreed to line up a team to meet the visitors, and should have a strong aggregation.

Bert has taken an interest in baseball, and has been a booster for clean sport. With Ray Gardner and Sam Nott he has had much to do with starting things booming in the Pacific League, and should be able to line up a strong team to meet the visitors when they come to Hawaii.

Charley Lyman, Otis Sadtler, Walter Argabrite, Rawson and many other stars are good players, and for a special series might be able to land some of the Pacific League players, although they are amateurs. Doty may return with the Chinese and Swan has been going good with the Travelers, so there is a nucleus for a strong team. Hushaw will begin work at once in landing a strong squad.

MAJOR ROSE WINS AGAIN

Major Rose defeated Lieut. Wayne in the officers' bowling tournament yesterday afternoon at the armory. Rose made a score of 190—124—148—462. Wayne had a score of 140—132—103—375. In the next match Major Redington will meet Lieut. Lam. Morgan and Gray have the high score for the ragtime tournament to date.

GRASSHOPPERS TO HOP

The Grasshoppers will schedule a game at Tanilua Park on Sunday. The Red Men and Camoes are slated to battle for the championship. Members of both teams are requested to meet on Lusitana street at 8 o'clock on Sunday morning. The battle for the Camoes will be Paria and Soares. For the Red Men, Gomes and Mara.

He Can Hit 'Em

George ("Babe") Ruth, southpaw pitcher of the Boston Red Sox, who can hit as well as pitch. Ruth is considered one of the best hitters in the business, despite the fact that he is a pitcher. When he is pitching the Dodger hurlers had better be careful when Ruth takes his position at the plate. There will be no passing Thomas to get at Ruth. He is one of the best cleaners in the business.

Boston Has Slight Edge Over Brooklyn Dodgers

Carrigan's Men Look Ready for Championship This Year—Series Should Be Hard Fought One, as Robbie Has Many Seasoned Veterans on Squad—Jack Coombs Has Never Been Defeated in World Series—Red Sox Star in Infield

Who will be world's champions of country have wished to see Rucker in 1916? No one can tell to a certainty, and this question which is being asked around the city more often than any other these days, is one of the things that make baseball. It is far from certain this year, and the series may be a long drawn out one.

Boston looks the best, and with everything even should win the championship, but looking at the situation from every angle, the Red Sox will not have much of an advantage on the Dodgers. Both clubs have good pitching staffs and fair hitting teams. Neither, of course, can compare with the Giants and Tigers in offensive strength.

Shore, Ruth, Mays, Leonard and Foster will without doubt be called upon to do the hurling in the series, and this quintet represents the best pitching staff in the American League. Leonard, when right is unbeatable, and Shore and Ruth have been going good. Mays has shown this year that he will be given an opportunity to hurl in the series. He was the pitcher who gave the Tigers a big set back, and practically put Detroit out of the pennant race.

Foster, the smallest member of the pitching staff, was the hero of the last world series. He defeated the Quakers in the first Boston victory, holding them to three hits, and in the last game, won from Mayer and Rixey. Carrigan has a great pitching staff and only ten runs were made off the crew in five games, and not one of the three pitchers were taken out of the box. Babe Ruth wants a chance this year, and may be seen in action in one of the games.

The Boston pitching staff is a comparatively young one, and the hurlers may be termed youngsters. On the other hand Brooklyn will have a different combination to shoot at the Red Sox. They have Pfeffer, Smith, Hase, Cheney, Marquard, Dell, Coombs and Rucker. On paper this team may not look as strong as the Boston fingers, but then there are things that must be remembered.

Watch Coombs! Jack Coombs, one of the headiest pitchers in the business, has won three games in one series for the big classic. He has never been defeated in a world series contest. It will take a man with brains to battle with the Red Sox, and Coombs is certain to play a part in the defense of the Dodgers. Only recently he pitched a one hit game.

Then there is Rube Marquard, the southpaw who has been pitching good ball for Robinson. Will Rube prove to the critics that he is not all in by becoming the hero of the world series? He has pitched great ball this year and has had experience in world series events?

"Nap" May Have Chance Then one must not forget George "Nap" Rucker, another southpaw who was for many years considered the peer of southpaw fingers in the National League. Fans throughout the action in a world series, and he may be given a chance. Robbie may figure that a seasoned veteran will have a better opportunity than a youngster. Rucker has turned in a number of good games this season.

Larry Cheney is another cast off, as was Marquard and Coombs, but he has been pitching good ball this year and should be given a chance in the big series. Cheney's best year was in 1912 when he won 26 out of 36 games for the Cubs. This year he has been pitching good ball.

Big Pfeffer has been considered the best man of the Brooklyn pitching staff throughout the series and has made a great record, but whether or not he will be as effective as the veterans, is a question. Sherrod Smith is another man who can be counted upon to do the business, but Robbie has won a pennant with veterans and discards, and he may figure that the pitchers with experience will be the men to send on the mound.

In the catching departments the two teams should be about even. Meyers and Miller are better hitters than Carrigan, Cady and Thomas, but the Boston combination will work behind different pitchers, which may be a help to the defensive strength. Meyers may catch if Pfeffer is sent on the mound.

Brooklyn has a big advantage at the initial sack, as both Daubert and Merkle surpass Hoblitzell and Gainer. Daubert is far and away the best player of the four. At second base Brooklyn will have Cutshaw, a good fielder and a hitter for extra bases, and he should rank with Janviri in all around play, but if Barry gets in then Boston should have the advantage at the keystone sack.

Scott a Star Everett Scott is a much better fielder than Ivan Olsen, and has the experience of working in a world series. Olsen is aggressive and plays ball the hardest in a pinch, and the ex-coaster may be counted upon to play good ball. Larry Gardner at third is a more finished player than Mowrey, and the fact that he is the only Boston player to hit over 300 means a heap.

The Boston outfield may not be a better outfield the season through than the Brooklyn fly catchers, but they have proved to be strong in a pinch. It was Lewis and Hooper who upset things last year, not Tris Speaker, and Clarence Walker is certain to fit into the combination. He has a great throwing arm and is not a weak hitter. Then do not forget Olaf Henriksen, who is always a star in the pinch. This boy has been the original dope upsetter and may be in at the finish this year.

It should be a great battle for honors and without doubt at the least six games will be played. Already Honolulu is getting the fever, and when the series starts on Saturday there is certain to be a number of fans collected around the Star-Bulletin score board.

THEY DON'T LIVE IN BROOKLYN OR BOSTON AT ALL

Not a Star in Big Series Lives in Two Cities Which Will Fight for World's Honors

Brooklyn and Boston are battling for the championship, and the fans will receive the news of the first game on Saturday morning in this city, but there will be no Boston and Brooklyn players battling for honors. This may seem strange, but not one of the players who will contest for the greatest honors in baseball lives in Boston or Brooklyn.

Brooklyn has not a home town player on the team, and the great state of New York, with all its population has not a representative on either team. Baseball is a game which draws from every section and out of a list of 33 players who will participate, 21 states are represented, and California leads them all with four representatives on the two teams.

Porter, Georgia, where there is a water tank and a general store, should become famous this year as this little town will supply two heroes in the big classic. Factoryville, Pa., was made famous by Mathewson, and Smith and Myers may do the same for Porter, Ga.

The following information has been gathered to give Honolulu fans an idea of where the players get their mail when they are at home.

- William Carrigan, Lewiston, Me.
- George Foster, Lehigh, Okla.
- John W. Coombs, Lagrande, Ia.
- Del Gainer, Elkins, W. Va.
